(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—Attoracy. General Moody to-day made a statement with reference to the pleas in bar filed by the defendants in the indictment against the beer packers pending in the district court at Chicago. The statement says that cicht of the pleas are based upon the alleged conduct of Mr. Garfield, commissioner of corporations, in making an investigation or the affairs of the defendants in pursuance of the authority conferred upon him by law, the pleas in bar alleving that the packers were promised immunity from punishment in return for information and access to the books of the defendant corporations. Mr. Moody's statement says that the information was given voluntarily, and continues:

"The government deales in point of fact that Mr. Garfield did compel the several defendants to attend and testify and produce documents before him, or that he did subboens any of the defendants to appear before him not that he was authorized to require of them; or that he waived the oath which he was authorized to require of them; or that he premised that any immunity whatever in the premises, or that any evidence obtained from the defendant was defendant from the defendant was defended from the defendant was defended from the defendant of tustice or the district attorned before the grand jury, which found the indictment.

Judge Christian May Run for the Court of Appeals,

One hears a good deal of talk now con-cerning probable candidates for positions on the Suprege heach to be filled by the coming Legislature, and it is said that besides the five incumbents there will be several other aspirants. The terms of the judges to be elected will be four six, eight, ten and twelve years, and here-after one judge will be chosen by each Legislation for a term of twelve years. Circuit Judge J. W. Blackstone, of Ac-comac, has been mentioned as a pronection with the fight is that of Cor-peration Judge Frank P. Christian, of Lynchburg. A gendleman from that city says it is understood there that Judge Christian will be a candidate. After the five judges are chosen they will cast lots for the terms.

SUNDAY-SCHOOLS IN LARGE CITIES

Mr. D. W. Sims, Superintendent Pine Street Sunday School, Gives Fine Address.

HIS TALK WITH WANAMAKER

Visited Largest Churches in Philadelphia, New York and Brooklyn.

cent visit to Frinageinma and New York to study the Sunday-school conditions in the two cities, Mr. Sims's account, interspersed with relations of humorous incidents, graphically told and illustrated with word pictures, was entertaining in the extreme, and held the large audience speal-hound during its entire course. Every time the speaker halted, seeming in doubt as to whether he were pleasing his hearers, he was greeted with cries of "Go onl Go on!"

Mr. Sims gave a detailed account of his trip, telling of the men he had met, particularly John Wanamaker, the superintendent of one of the largest Sunday-schools in Philadelphia, and perhaps in the United States; of the places h had visited and of his numerous and rare experiences in the two big 11-19s. He tood of how difficult it is to see Mr. Wanamaker in his private office, of how he had had to wait his turn before he could see the great financier, and of how, to save time, he had prepared a list of questions to ask the multimillionaire. The speaker repeated the questions to the sudience. He had asked the great man

Mr. Wanamaker had replied. "If I had my life to go over I would give more time to the men. You can hold a child after you have once gotten him. but it is more difficult to hold a man. In speaking of the large sunday school in Philadelphia the speaker deprecated and deplored the large failing off that had occurred in the Pine Street school. The attendance had been reduced one-half." "That is bad fishing for the souls of men." Mr. Wanamaker told him, when he heard of the state of affairs here. "You must make the Sunday school attractive," the financier continued, "that is the way to hold the little ones." The Sunday school in Philadelphia has 45 officers, 156 teachers and over 5,000 children on its roll. It is strictly a Bible school. The teachers visit their classes, and one lady is paid byways in the search for souls to be saved. It is a grand work, said Mr. Sins, and a grand lesson to the workers of the Christian faith.

The speaker then took his audience to New York with him, and toid of the strange glare and glitter of the large metropoils, the curious sights he saw and the impressions he received. He had gone to see Mr. Rockefeler, but the latter was out of town. However, he was not to be disappointed, and he went to Calvary Baptist Church himself. The church is now undergoing repairs, and he was able to only get a passing glimpse of the building. He visited the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church, which the speaker described as a tremendous building and fitted up in the most modern style. He spoke of the great work going on in Brooklyn and of the great Sunday-school lines of that city, of the Sunday-school lines of that city, of the Sunday-school lines of that city, of the Sunday-school lines of the last May, when 30,000 teachers saip of God by Rev. W. A. Fatterson, of Princeton, Ind., in an address at the United Presbyterian Psalmody Convention. Reg. Patterson offered as a substitute the forty-third Psalm.
"The song, 'Lead, Kindly Light,' "he said, "may mean anything that a man may choose to make it mean, be is Christian, atheist or Buddhist."
"Just As I Am" and "We'll Meet on That Beautiful Shore" and other hymns of like nature were also looked on with disfayor by several speakers, but no subspiring procession to a grand metary of music until they reached the grounds where the plenic was to be held. Ere the audience had wakened to the fact the speaker closed, with a few remarks, saying that Sunday-achool work is the most neglected of any great work, and that it requires effort to make it successful, making a great appeal for effort and work in its behalf.

Mr. Sims made a splendid address, and that duclence was highly appreciative and interested.

Rev. A. B. Sharp Succeeds Mr. Wiley in Mission Work.

MR. CHANDLER TO LEAVE

Wedding Last Night - Old Maids' Convention a Great Success.

Manchester Bureau, Times-Dispatch, No. 1102 Huli Street,

Rev. A. B. Sharp, paster of the Fifth Street Methodist Church, is to succeed Rev. George H. Wiley, in the mission work of the Methodist Institute for Christian work, at the corner of Nineteenth and Main Streets. The position is one of great responsibility, and perhaps no one realizes it more than the who has accomplished there such a grand, noble and far-recognized work.

That Mr. Wiley has accomplished work of charity that is almost unsurpassed there is none to doubt that Mr. Sharp will do his best to continue its past efficiency no one will deny. Mr. ter, has endeared himself to his congregation, and has made himself felt among many. But a larger field is now open to him, and it will call for the now open to him, and it will call for the greatest that is in him. He visited the scenes of his future labors yesterday, was shown the ins and outs of the work by the retiring evangelist, and was, in effect, handed the key to the larger door. Mr. Sharp will move from Manchester as soon as possible, and will make his home in Richmond, where he may be in closer touch with the conditions in which his labors must now be. It is not known as yet where he will make his residence, or when he will move. It may be said that his present congregation will miss him, and that they will regret to see him leave their midst.

Old Maids Made Young.

The Old Maids' Convention, held in Leader Hall hast night, was a hugh success. The building was crowded to the utmost; it was probably the largest crowd ever seen there, and none cer-tainly was over more nightly entertained. Professor Lonnie Wilson had the anali in charge, and he did most excellent work in transforming oid maids to bitthe maids of sweet sixteen. The aftair was successful from every point, and a large sum was realized. The proceeds will go for the benefit of Bainbridge Street Bap tist Church and Asbury Aethodis Church, of Richmond.

Mr. Chandler Soon to Leave.

Rev. R. M. Chandler, pastor of Central Methodist Church, will soon leave for the new scene of his future labors in Portsmouth, where he was assigned by the conforence. His farewell sermon will be probably preached next Sunday, as Rev. J. K. Jollin, who has been appointed to succeed Mr. Chandler, has not yet been heard from, and may not arrive in time for Sunday's services.

Mr. Chandler will be greatly missed by his followers. He has endeared himself to all, not only to those of his own faith, but also to those of every creed. Mrs. Chandler, too, will be regretted, for she has followed in the footsteps of her hus band in his work, and has become known to all for her kindness and ever-ready sympathy.

CASTRO DIDN'T MEET SECOND PAYMENT

SECOND PAYMEN I

(By Associated Press.)

PARIS, Nov. 16.—The foreign office is informed that President Castro refused to pay the second instalment of the Plumley arbitration award. The arbitration covered damages sustained by French citizens in Venezuela during revolutionary periods prior to 1903. Judge Frank Plumley, of Northfield, Vt., was president of the arbitration commission which met at Northfield last year. The judgment was in favor of France, which was awarded about $850,000, and President Castro paid the first instalment of the award three months ago. The second payment, due yesterday, was not paid, Apparently the Venezuelan president's failure to pay the instalment was on the ground that diplomatic relations between France and Venezuela are interrupted. The officials here decline to admit that this justified President Castro in not paying the instalment. The incident is considered to be a further provocation. provocation.

John Wanamaker Talks On Sunday School Work, Emphasizing Success in Union.

(By Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, November 16.—Three largely attended meetings in Carnegle Hall marked the second day of the Inter-Church Conference on Federation, the Church Conference on Federation, the speakers at morning, afternoon and evening sessions being men of national prominence and noted Christian workers. John Wanamaker, of Philadelphia, delivered an address on Sunday school work at the afteroon session, pointing out that the success of these schools is largely due to the union of churches in their direction. This was cited as a guiding example to the Inter-Church Conference, which has been gathered together with the principle of the federation of the churches in view. Rev. Dr. James M. Buckley, editor of the Christian Advocate, attucked the Sunday newspapers as one of the greatest foes to Sabbath keeping, and declared religious press has by no means lost fix influence.
